Bauer Technologies Management Change to Continue Business Growth

Leading foundations contractor BAUER Technologies Ltd has re-appointed Michael Jones as its new managing director. Michael's appointment provides continuity and underlines the stable growth plans for Bauer's UK operation, following the retirement of Martin Blower, who has been Bauer Technologies managing director since 2014.

Speaking of this management change, Michael said: "Martin has had an exceptional career, with the result that he is held in such high regard as a leading figure in the UK foundations industry. He has done an excellent job in taking Bauer Technologies to the strong market position it occupies today. I'm looking forward to the opportunity to return to the UK and to the management of one of the most exciting and dynamic specialist foundation contractors in the UK."

Michael originally set-up Bauer Technologies in the UK in 2007, and after a successful 5-year period as its managing director, moved to its parent company Bauer Spezialtiefbau GmbH, where he became a member of the Management Board developing his career globally from Bauer's Headquarters in Germany. Over the last 2 years Michael has held senior leadership positions for BAUER in Australia and USA.

Bauer's outgoing Managing Director, Martin Blower, said: "I can think of no better person to hand over the reins of the business to. Michael has a wealth of experience within BAUER and he is uniquely placed to leverage the synergies between BAUER subsidiaries and the parent company. His appointment will be pivotal to growing the business and making a positive difference, not only to how we work with our existing clients but in helping us to attract new ones."
